CALL FOR APPLICATIONS / NOMINATIONS

The New Jersey Association of School Resource Officers is accepting nominations for the 2010 Dwayne Reeves School Resource Officer of the Year Award.

The Dwayne Reeves School Resource Officer of the Year Award was established by NJASRO in November 2005 as a memorial in honor of Dwayne Reeves, Newark School District Police Services.

ELIGIBILITY

Any law enforcement officer, school security or civilian educational personnel.

NOMINATIONS

All nominations must include the attached Nomination Form containing information on the name(s) of the individual(s), department(s), of the nominees, as well as the name and contact information of the nominator.

AWARD CRITERIA

Determination of the award may be based on an outstanding or exceptional contribution to the safety of our schools, colleges and universities. Examples include an achievement, particularly high quality of work, a set of skills, a creative idea or innovation, etc., expressed in some action within the applicant's/nominee's work unit that can be shown to have an exceptional impact upon the safety and security of the educational environment.

Nominations should focus primarily on contributions during the academic year prior to the nomination; however, on-going contributions which span several years but continued through the past academic year will be considered.

The identified contribution(s) may have resulted in a wide range of identifiable outcomes, including, but not limited to, enhancing the quality of campus safety, and improved safety service to students, faculty, or staff, and community outreach. The applicants/nominators may be asked to provide evidence of impact on the educational environment. The overarching principle in the review process is the principle of exceptional quality. This award is chiefly concerned with the quality of work. The quantity of work may serve as a factor when appropriate.
